

Suggested assignments for week beginning 8th June 2020:

Hello Second Class.

You've all been so busy this week and we've loved seeing all your creations. We have some new recipes to try, inspired by you all, and we have been privileged to see the work of some excellent artists and photographer's in Second Class for sure.

As we said last week, we really hope you'll keep up with some daily reading. This can be with a grown up at home, reading a story to a younger sibling, or reading by yourself under a tree or curled up in your favourite place in your house. By now you might be running out of material to read. The libraries are supposed to open soon, but in the meantime, here are some places you can find new stories.

The more that you READ
the more THINGS
you will know.
The more that you
LEARN,
the more PLACES
YOU'LL GO.
— Dr.Seuss

Oxford Owl

The non-fiction books are particularly appealing here.

https://www.oxfordowl.co.uk/for-home/library-page?view=details&query=&type=book&age_group=&book=&book_type=Non-fiction&series=Oxford+Reading+Tree

The Ickabog, J.K. Rowling

For the next few weeks you can read J.K.Rowling's new book online. She's even running a competition asking you to illustrate each chapter and your work could be featured in her new book!

<https://www.theickabog.com/home/>

Audio Stories

Free audio stories, including Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone.

<https://stories.audible.com/start-listen>

As part of your work this week, please round up any library books and school books you might have at home and ask whoever is collecting your books, to bring them back to school for you. Thank you.

Suggested assignments for week beginning 8th June 2020:

We have another week focused on fun, creativity and well-being and we've teamed up with the first class teachers who have some great ideas for the week ahead.

Each of the assignments will be posted on Monday morning on Google Classroom. You can do them in any order, there are no set days.

1. Mr O' Sullivan has set you the challenge of creating your own board game. We can't wait to see what you come up with.
2. Ms McDermott has given you a science experiment that will take you through how to make a lava lamp.
3. Ms Shanley has an improvisation drama lesson for you with some activities for you to try at home.
4. Ms Wadding has commissioned a piece of art, using materials you find outside.
5. Ms Shortt has tasked you with a sensory scavenger hunt as an exercise in mindfulness.

We hope you enjoy these activities and we can't wait to see the wonderful work you'll do!

Ms McDermott and Ms Shortt